“ It's very sad to see those we love and care about leave this Earth and leave us here.
Waiting to see someone, or just waiting g in general is so hard. But the good thing is...we have that blessed hope to see them again if we all know Jesus as Savior. A.J. love Jesus and ministered for Him thru music and song. How beautiful it has been to have been in the presence of God with A.J. and his talents. It will truly be missed. I grew up listening and watching him sing and play music. He has impacted my life and I learned to play piano just by watching him. I also learned to harmonize by listening and singing with him. I seen so many things in prayer meetings and church that I will remember. I also will remember how he laughed. How he did silly things. Always wanting to enjoy life. He always trying to get different ones to sing. My mom, Diane told me of many Godly adventures that they went on and how they enjoyed them all. Rest a sure...it won't be long...and we too will be gone. Time is so short. YOU, A.J.WILL BE MISSED!

“ My brother aj and I grew up together he was the younger brother and I am the younger sister. We always got in trouble from skipping school to doing stuff that we shouldn't done. I remember one time we skip school and went to the laundry mat and we saw our mom coming and he told me to put him in the dryer so he wouldn't get in trouble but mom came in and she said where Aj I know he here somewhere well he found him and boy did we get a spanking we always got in trouble together. I love my brother so much we laugh and always talk to one another he wasn't just my brother but my best friend.

“ So sorry to the family of AJ Johnson who many of us called Sonny boy my dad just buried a brother last week Charles and now today he just lost his brother AJ. We all have so many memories over the years of AJ.

He was a very kind, generous person who loved his music and singing and playing the piano so many times over the years I have had good memories with him. we used to go on lots of walks together and hang out. Church outings, visiting him at Grandma's and we used to go up to his house when he lived in New York and visit. ill remember the good times his kindness, his laughter and his great sense of humor joking always. regardless to the struggles that sometimes we go through in life and the trials that we go through he had a good heart and was trying very hard to fight his battle may he now rest in peace. to the family you we are all in my thoughts and prayers..
