“ Brian was my best friend and my older brother. He was my protector growing up and the one I hid behind. Never called me by name "always SIS" We fought, jumped out of 2nd story windows laughing and he stole bread to feed us. He was abused as a child and angry but never toward his mother or sisters. He was a hero amid his nieces and nephews WHO loved him dearly despite his beard . A friend to Kyle and Joe Brown . Uncle BRY and This and THAT. We miss him every day

“ Family members and friends of Brian, sorry for your lost. I first met Brian when I moved here in 1993. I hired him to work in my business, but we became friends not long after that. He was very likable and a friendly person. He was the very best that I had hired for doing what we did. He knew that I was picky and there fore did his very best at every job. He was always quiet during work , I think he saved all his talk for lunch time, cause it was then he couldn't stop talking about hunting and his arrowhead collection. I used to joke with him about how much food he always brought in his lunch cooler . He would say Ann always packed him a big lunch just in case he didn't make it home that night. When my sons began working with us he would say to them, you want to see your Dad coming running ! just say out loud when you finished a project that it was perfect. He always thought that was funny, because he knew how I felt about using that word.Brian you will be truly missed by many friends and family. See you on the other side ! John
