“ Don and I have always thought and said that Uncle Craig was a class act. Don, especially, appreciated all of his help when he help refurbished the house on 5th street in Towanda, PA. He was a voice of reason when Don, Sr. was sometimes being stubborn during the construction job. Don also cherishes and still owns the wooden cabinet Uncle Craig hand-made for him. He will be missed and we are sorry for the loss to the rest of the family.

“ Craig was a prince of a man; he was a wonderful father, a devoted husband, and a friend to all who knew him. He was a man of many skills who worked tirelessly for his community through all the organizations with which he was involved. He was a great teacher, helping to form the work ethic of so many young people. His passing is a great loss to us all. His passion for life and his compassion for others will be sorely missed. Our deepest condolences go to Craig's family and friends. May he rest in peace in the arms of the Lord.

“ Craig was a generous man who radiated kindness and good cheer. His mere presence in a room could make everyone around him feel his warmth and calm. I have known Craig only a few years as a co-member of Habitat for Humanity, but his nature was immediately evident, making it easy to know him. He was interested in each individual and genuinely devoted. To habitat, he brought compassion, building expertise and assiduous attention to managing and guiding a project.

In many ways, Craig was a model citizen, humble yet motivated by the highest principles of morality and service. I feel enriched from having known him.

“ Craig impressed me in many ways, but his dedication to Masonry and Habitat stands out. After the flood of 2011 and the destruction of the lodge hall's first floor, he initiated and directed a volunteer effort to repair the damage with scarce dollars and a handful of mostly senior lodge workers. The result was beautiful, and it couldn't have been done without Craig's leadership and talents. The Masonic lodge and Habitat for Humanity are now significantly weakened with the loss of Craig.
