“ I will sure miss the fun we had playing tricks on each other and your wisdom you shared about planting a garden. Mine never turned out as good as Jacks. We tried to go fishing more than once, but murphy's law always seem to get in the way as the boat wouldn't start after we put it in the water and had to pull it out again without ever wetting a line. At least we sat in the boat and ate our lunch before leaving the river. Jack was a wonderful friend and I will forever miss him. Hope your fishing is better in heaven than it was when we went.. I will catch up with you someday. Your family can always be proud to have had a son and brother like you.
