“ Joe and Martha were friends when we lived in Philadelphia while in dental school and lost touch over the years. But I vividly remember Joe as a tall gangly guy with a wide friendly smile who was happy and kind. He and Martha could be so funny together and always made us laugh. We all took a trip together to the beach and sat and played cards all day together in a stuffy motel room, it was hilarious. We also went with them to Towanda and spent time with their wonderful family. Bet Joe was the kind of person without ever an enemy in the world. I remember every one loved him to pieces.

“ I cannot believe that Joe is gone. Although I have not seen him in quite some time, we did speak by telephone frequently. I have always considered him as close as one of my brothers since our time together in Panama. Joe and Martha were then our very best friends. Our kids loved Joe like a father and indeed spent as much time at Joe and Martha's as they did at our house. They called him "Joe-Boy" , a term a that he loved hearing.He allowed them to so surgery on him while playing Doctor, using one of his tennis shoes as an anesthetic mask and coating his head in vasoline which took days to wash out. Never complaining, he was then ready for more "surgery". We know Joe was "speed-driver". I had recently asked him to leave for Michigan in April so that he could be here by June. We loved you Joe and Martha and will always miss you both.....Michael and Margaret Keefe

“ To the Kielty family ... Was as saddened to hear about Joe's passing as I was when Martha passed. There are very few members of the North Main Street gang remaining. A memory I will not forget was riding in Doc Kielty's (Joe's father) car with Joe (and probably Pat and a couple others) on a hot Summer day. All the windows were rolled down and Joe's father chewed tobacco ... I was sitting in the seat behind Doc Kielty when he let a load fly. (Joe and the other kids in the car knew what to expect and always let someone else sit behind their Dad.)
Our thoughts and prayers are with all the family.
