“ If it wasnt for PJ I would have never gotten to meet my dad "Baldie's" side of the family. I remember like it was yesterday when she came to come pick me up. I was 14 years old at the time. I was supposed to stay for a month but ended up calling my care taker to see if I could stay an extra month, which did end up happening. She shared stories of my dad with me and pictures. She always told u like it is and never judged. She loved hard and I appreciated her brutal yet positive honesty. That's a rare trait in people but that's what she will always be to me and anyone she came in contact with her who really knew her, she was RARE. She def took no shit from no1 that's for sure. I wish I would've stayed in contact more with her, even with social media every now and then she'd peep in to say hi and see how I was doing, commenting on my posts, and wishing me a happy birthday. PJ u are going to be missed by many but u will also be remembered especially by those who have felt ur spirit!!!! Tell my dad I said hi. I love you🔥❤️❤️❤�

*Where do I begin, I will forever remember you at the age of 8 catching that big bull head and the smile on your face was priceless, I've enjoyed watching you grow and become a beautiful young woman, that has always worked for what she wanted and never gave up. I will forever miss getting your txt messages and hearing you call me Auntie, until we meet again my dear niece I will forever hold you in my heart. Keep a spot there for me.
