Robert Walter Vanderpool

3/22/1962 - 8/21/2022

Today we remember the life of Robert Walter Vanderpool (Bobby) even through Bobby's recent health issues with Cancer he led such a happy full life of love. Bobby left behind a beautiful legacy in his children. whom he loved dearly Bobby shared a true Bond and friendship with the mother of my niece and nephew Robert and heather. Lisa Simons has always been a true support and caring friend to him through the years even though their lives may have led separate paths they have always had a strong and constant bond for their children. The love for their children kept their bond unbreakable they were the true meaning of what family is no matter what obstacles came in their path they stood strong and remained a constant force of love for Robert and Heather. Through all the years one thing that has remained strong is there love for their kids.

As we celebrate the life of Bobby today we celebrate the fact that he was loved by everyone who's life he touched. Bobby was such a kind, gentle soul who would do anything for anyone and that is represented in the life of his beautiful children, friends and family.

As I think about the family of Bobby vanderpool one of my experiences of Bobby was as I first entered into the family and married Richard I met two of the cutest kids I had ever seen Robert and Heather. Heather was the most beautiful little girl i ever seen the biggest little Bright eyes and robert the sweetest boy they easily grew a special place in my heart. I used to go to the park with their Aunt Kathy and the kids and watch them play. Over time spent with the family I met their father Bobby and as I was young myself I didn't really truly understand how he seemed to still be so involved with the family and Lisa even after they're separation. Often times I wondered how is this working that he's still around so much yet they are exes because in my mind when ex's break up the family was split and wasn't an active part of each other's lives anymore, yet with this family Bobby was always still there his pictures were still on the walls with the kids his presence was pretty much constant over the years at holiday gatherings and dinners and I was a tad bit perplexed at how was this situation working and seemed to be working so well. Everyone was very accepting of it as it was just normal life for them all. As I got older and more mature I realized why this situation was working so well and it was because of one thing LOVE!! The love of family, the love for their children, UNCONDITIONAL love that is boundless, unmeasurable and everlasting!! A love that is selfless and constant and goes beyond any explanation of words! their Love for their children and their family ment more to them than any ill feelings or selfishness! That to me is amazing in any form!

Today as I think about Bobby and his kids and his family and the amazing friendship him and Lisa continue to have their entire lives I am in Awe and amazed and want to say thank you - thank you to them all for showing each and everyone of us what unconditional love means and how great co-parenting works....I am blessed to have been a witness to such love. Being a young girl when I first entered this family I don't think I truly knew what unconditional love was or the full meaning of it they were apart of a few in my life that helped teach me what that fully meant and I feel very blessed to have been a part of the family. my heart, thoughts and prayers to you all.
