“ This is just a small memory that I would like to share.

I spent a few hours on the First Lego League FLL and met a number of great people who were working with students, and Shane Martin was right in there.

It takes a special patience person to work with the middle school age group--and especially with taking on technical challenges that the FLL offers. Shane did a wonderful job of wrangling, coaching, teaching, and moving the kids towards the goal of doing well.

This was not a case where grownups did the programming, but stayed true to having the kids do the work.

I will not itemize all of the examples I saw of using the right amount of coaching, but will simply say that it was truly a job well done. We are a community with many connections, and the people that show us how to make things better lift all of us up.

Shane was one of those people urging us to do better, and this is truly a loss for all of us.
